Scope of Counselling Service:

-To ease the pain of family breakdown, mediation plays a vital role in helping couples to reach agreement. Apart from family mediation, we also provide Chinese counselling as a one-stop service. It helps individuals or couples to adapt the changes after separation and divorce and provide them with continuous professional support.

-Counselling could help individuals or couples or the children to:

- work through the complex feelings associated with the breakdown of relationships.

- handle the difficulties and stresses caused by family changes.

- set up a new goal of life.

- deal with conflicts with ex-partners.

- handle the difficulties of parenting.

-understand their children's emotions and psychological impacts after family changes.

- develop new parent/child relationships after separations.
